

Yale Parenting Center

Department of Psychology, Yale University
314 Prospect Street, New Haven, Connecticut 06511
(203) 432-9993

Notice of Privacy Practices

This notice describes how medical information about you may be used and disclosed and how you can obtain access to this information. Please review it carefully. If you have any questions, please contact our privacy office at the phone number at the bottom of this notice.

Our pledge to you:

We understand that your mental health and medical information is personal. We are committed to protecting this information about you. When we refer to your medical record (your record), we are referring to any information that comes up during your mental health treatment at the Center. Your record here is not a part of any other medical or mental health record that you may have at Yale University. We create a record of the care and services you receive to provide quality care and to comply with legal requirements. This notice applies to all of the records of your care generated by any of the providers described below. We are required by law to:

- Keep your record private;
- Give you this notice of our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to your record; and
- Follow the terms of the notice that is currently in effect.

How we may use and disclose information in your psychological record:

We may use and disclose information in your record without your prior authorization for treatment, such as sending information about you to a specialist as part of a referral (this includes psychiatric or HIV information if needed for purposes of your diagnosis and treatment); to obtain payment for treatment, such as sending billing information to your insurance company or Medicare; and to support our healthcare operations, such as comparing patient data to improve treatment methods or for professional education purposes. However, it is important to note that only limited psychiatric and mental health or HIV information may be disclosed for billing purposes without your authorization. If you are treated in a specialized substance abuse program, your special authorization is required for most disclosures other than emergencies. Other examples of such uses and disclosures include contacting you for appointment reminders and telling you about or recommending possible treatment options, alternatives, health-related benefits or services that may be of interest to you. We may also contact you to support our fundraising efforts. It is always your choice to opt out of receiving fundraising communications from us.

We may use or disclose information in your record without your prior authorization for several other reasons. Subject to certain requirements, we may give information in your record, without prior authorization for public health purposes, abuse or neglect reporting, health oversight audits or inspections, workers' compensation purposes, emergencies, national security and other specialized government functions, and for members of the Armed Forces as required by Military Command authorities. We also disclose information in your record when required by law, such as in response to a request from law enforcement in specific circumstances, or in response to valid judicial or administrative orders or other legal process.

Under certain circumstances, we may use and disclose information in your record for research purposes, subject to a special approval process. We may also allow potential researchers affiliated with Yale University to review information that may help them prepare for research, so long as the health information they review does not leave our facility, and so long as they agree to specific privacy protection. We may disclose information in your record to a friend or family member whom you designate or in appropriate circumstances, unless you request a restriction. We may also disclose information to disaster relief authorities so that your family can be notified of your location and condition.

Other uses of information in your record:

In any other situation not covered by this notice, including the use or disclosure of psychotherapy notes, we will ask for your written authorization before using or disclosing information about you. If you choose to authorize use or disclosure, you can later revoke that authorization by notifying us in writing of your decision.

Who will follow this notice?

The Yale Parenting Center provides mental health care to our patients in partnership with other professionals and healthcare organizations. The privacy practices described in this notice will be followed by:

- Any mental health professional who assess and/or treats you at our Center;
- All members of The Yale Parenting Center, including faculty, administrative staff, graduate students, interns, post-doctoral fellows, and volunteers.

Right to be notified of a breach:

We will notify you in the event that the confidentiality of your information has been breached.

Right to access and/or amend your records:

In most cases, you have the right to look at or obtain a copy of the mental health and medical information that we use to make decisions about your care. All requests for copies or access must be submitted in advance, in writing. If your request for inspection is granted, we will arrange for a convenient time and place for you to look at your record. If you request copies, we may charge a fee for the cost of copying, mailing, or other related supplies. If we deny your request to review or obtain a copy, you may submit a written request for a review of that decision.

If you believe that information in your record is incorrect or that important information is missing, you have the right to request that we correct the records by submitting in writing a request that provides your reason for requesting the proposed amendment. We could deny your request to amend a record if the information is not maintained by us or if we determine that our record is accurate. You may submit a written statement of disagreement with a decision by us not to amend a record.

Right to an accounting:

You have the right to request a list accounting for any disclosures made from your record, except for uses and disclosures for treatment, payment, and healthcare operations, circumstances in which you have specifically authorized such disclosure and certain other exceptions. To request this list of disclosures, indicate the relevant period, which must be after April 14, 2003, but in no event for more than the last six years. You must submit your request in writing to our address at the top of this form.

Right to request restrictions:

You may request, in writing, that we not use or disclose information in your record for treatment, payment or healthcare operations or to persons involved in your care except when specifically authorized by you, when required by law, or in an emergency. We will consider your request and work to accommodate it when possible, but we are not legally required to accept it unless all of the conditions below are met:

- You request that your information is not shared with an insurer for purposes of payment or other purposes unrelated to your treatment;
- You pay all charges associated with the services you received out-of-pocket in full; and
- We are not required by law to release your information to the insurer.

We will inform you of our decision on your request. All written requests or appeals should be submitted to our Privacy Office listed below.

Requests for confidential communications:

You have the right to request that information in your record be communicated to you in a confidential manner, such as sending mail to an address other than your home, by notifying us in writing of the specific way or location for us to use to communicate with you.

Right to request a paper copy of this Notice:

You may receive a paper copy of this Notice from us upon request, even if you have agreed to receive this notice electronically.

Changes to this Notice:

We may change our policies at any time. Changes will apply to mental health information we already hold, as well as new information after the change occurs. Before we make a significant change in our policies, we will change our notice and post the new notice in waiting areas, treatment rooms, and on our website at www.yale.edu/parentingcenter. You can receive a copy of the current notice at any time. The effective date is listed at the end. Copies of the current notice will be available each time you come to our facility for treatment. You will be asked to acknowledge in writing your receipt of this notice.

Complaints:

If you are concerned that your privacy rights may have been violated, or you disagree with a decision we made about access to your records, you may contact our Privacy Office listed below. If you are not satisfied with our response, you may send a written complaint to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office of Civil Rights. Our Privacy Office can provide you the address. Under no circumstances will you be penalized or retaliated against for filing a complaint.

Yale University HIPAA
Privacy Office
203.432.5919
hipaa@yale.edu